WORD HAS IT
From Your Library

This writer has either proved that no one reads this column; well at least the 'old folk' aren't reading it. Or maybe it's just apathy. I did not receive any emails or phone calls with interesting stories from the older generation of members of our IA Club. I'll drive out to the Club and see if you may have stuffed the library's mailbox.

As a reminder, last month's article in the bulletin issued an invitation to provide a memory of the Club's past growth; a story you remember of something you did with the Club, or an event you particularly enjoyed. I am sure there are many out there.

Since I am an 'old member' here's something I remember well.

We were celebrating Christmas for the children in the early 80's. For this particular Christmas, my husband, Mike Conley, was Santa Claus for the children. I brought our two granddaughters, Shannon 4 years old and Holly 2 years, to see Santa. All the children were excited, and Shannon was just the perfect age for the full belief and excitement. After talking to Santa with their wishes, they came back to report how great it was. Shannon said politely, "That wasn't Santa. That was Grandpa. I saw the hole in his nose." (due to a car accident). Busted by a 4-year-old.

Happy St. Patrick's Day,
Rose Conley, McNeeley Library Committee
