Presidents Post

Where has this year gone? The dog days of summer are here. Happy August to all our members! We hope you are enjoying your summer.

Activities tend to slow down this time of year, but we still have things for you to get out of the house and come out to the club and enjoy.

Friday night entertainment and food continues and there will be some good entertainment coming in August. Friday, August 1st, the band Celt Division will be here to entertain you, and on August 22nd, Meadhbh Walsh will be in concert here at the IA. The annual WSIA Club picnic will be held on Sunday, August 24th, so there are things to do at the IA. Come on out and enjoy each others company.

Save the date for the annual WSIA clambake on Sunday, September 14th. Always a great event!

All the best,
Dan Chambers

BOOK REVIEW: The Outside Boy by Jeannine Cummins. Review by Kenny Gilson

Christopher Hurley is a tinker's child who roams with his father and extended family from town to town. This story of a Pavee gypsy is set in Ireland in 1959. Gypsies, or sometimes Tinkers, is a term given to the traveling people in Ireland. They travel in groups, moving often. Christopher is the narrator – a young fresh-faced boy who has never known any other life. The story tells of his struggles of acceptance once they do settle down and his quest to find who he is and where he belongs. He carries a burden of guilt, haunted by the story of his mother's death in childbirth. The story is totally charming and sometimes heartbreaking; it describes in detail the life of a traveler perfectly in 1950s Ireland. This was a debut novel, although the author first wrote A Rip in Heaven, a memoir, in 2004. She has since written several novels about travel and 'fitting in'. The Outside Boy is in our library. Ask the librarian on duty about this book.

Good health, good reading,
Rose Conley, McNeeley Library Committee
